Work Tracking

Keep track of all of your team's work — who's doing what, by when.

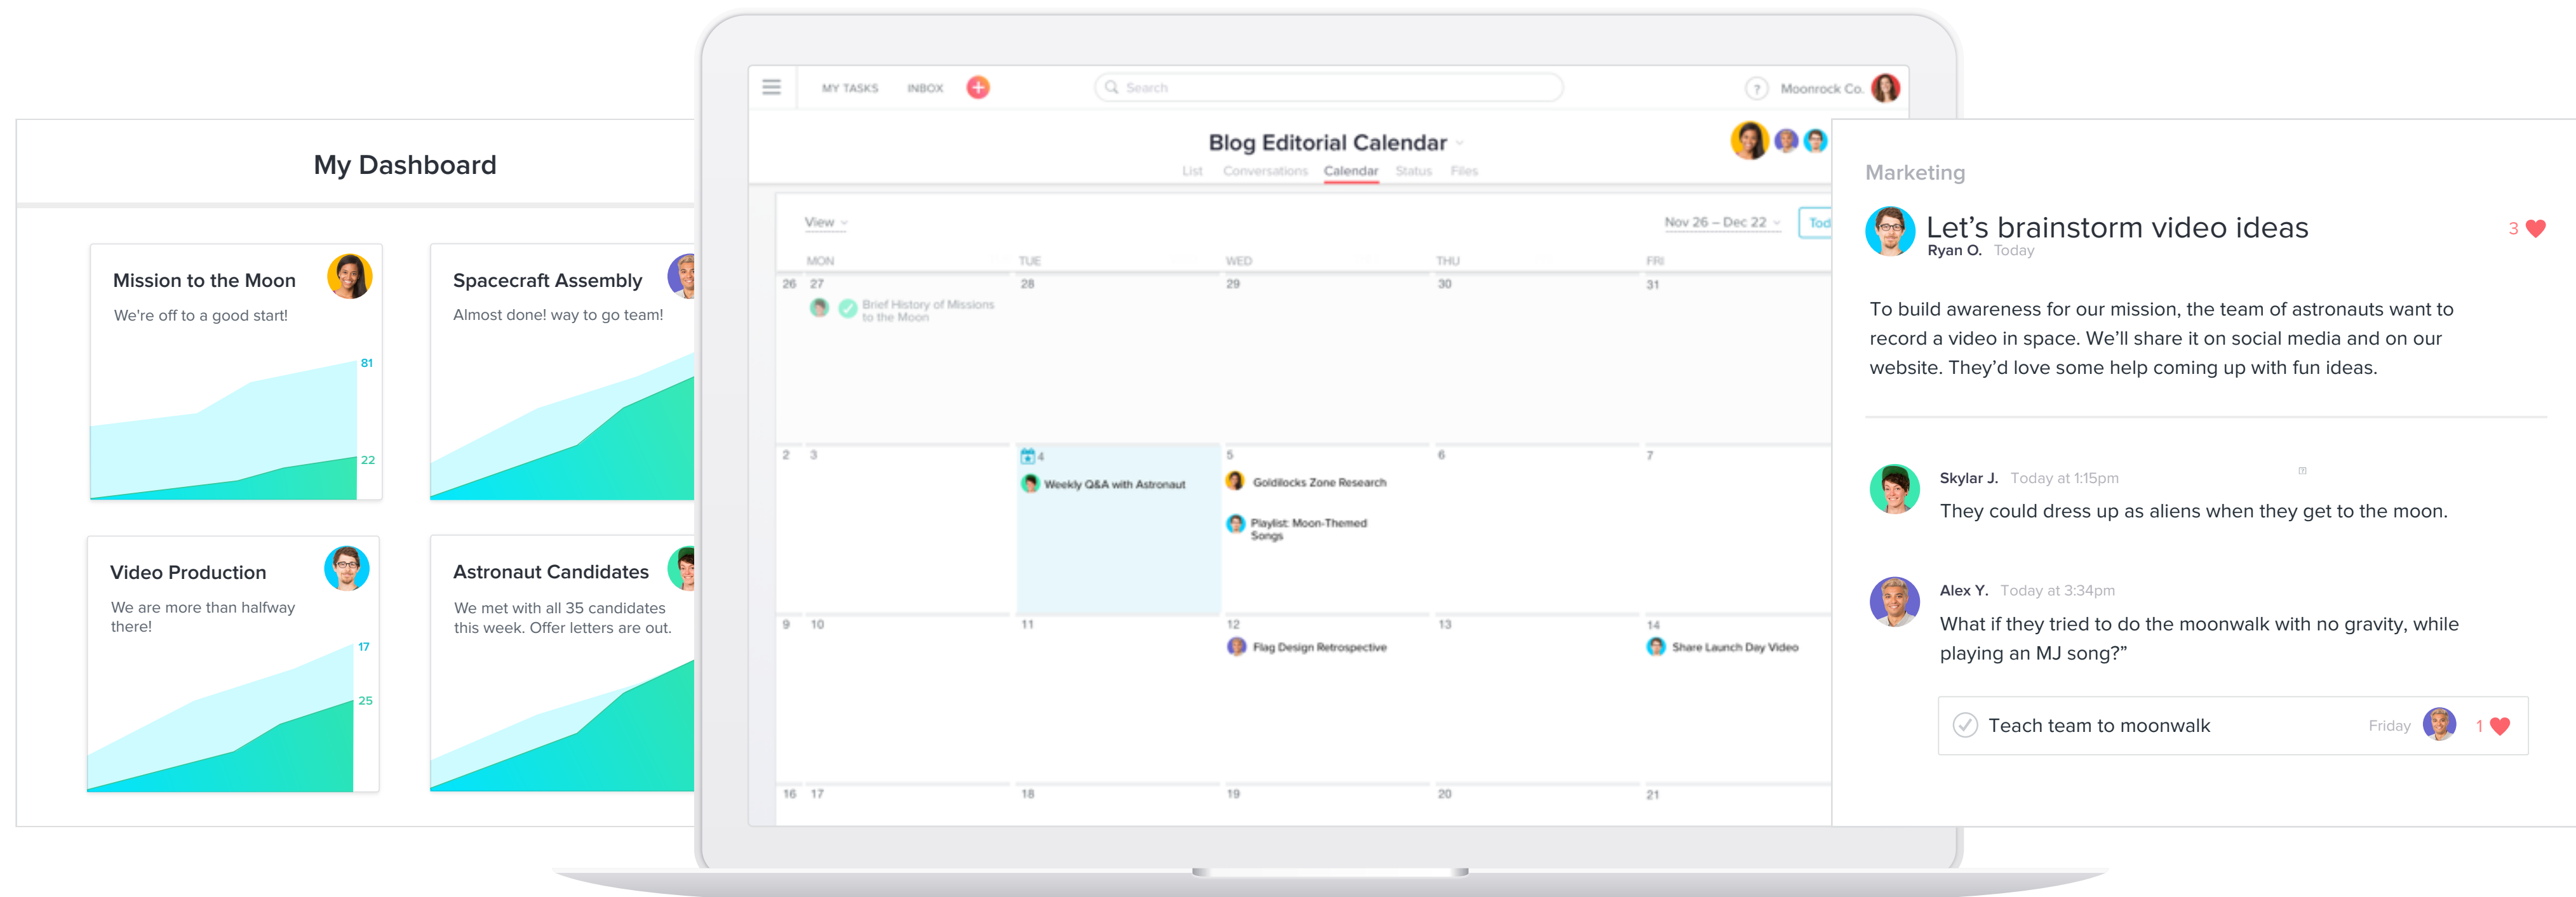

Work tracking is essential

Existing collaboration tools, email, chat, and documents still can't answer critical questions:

- What are the steps left between now and accomplishing our goal?
- Who's responsible for each of those steps?
- When are they going to be done?

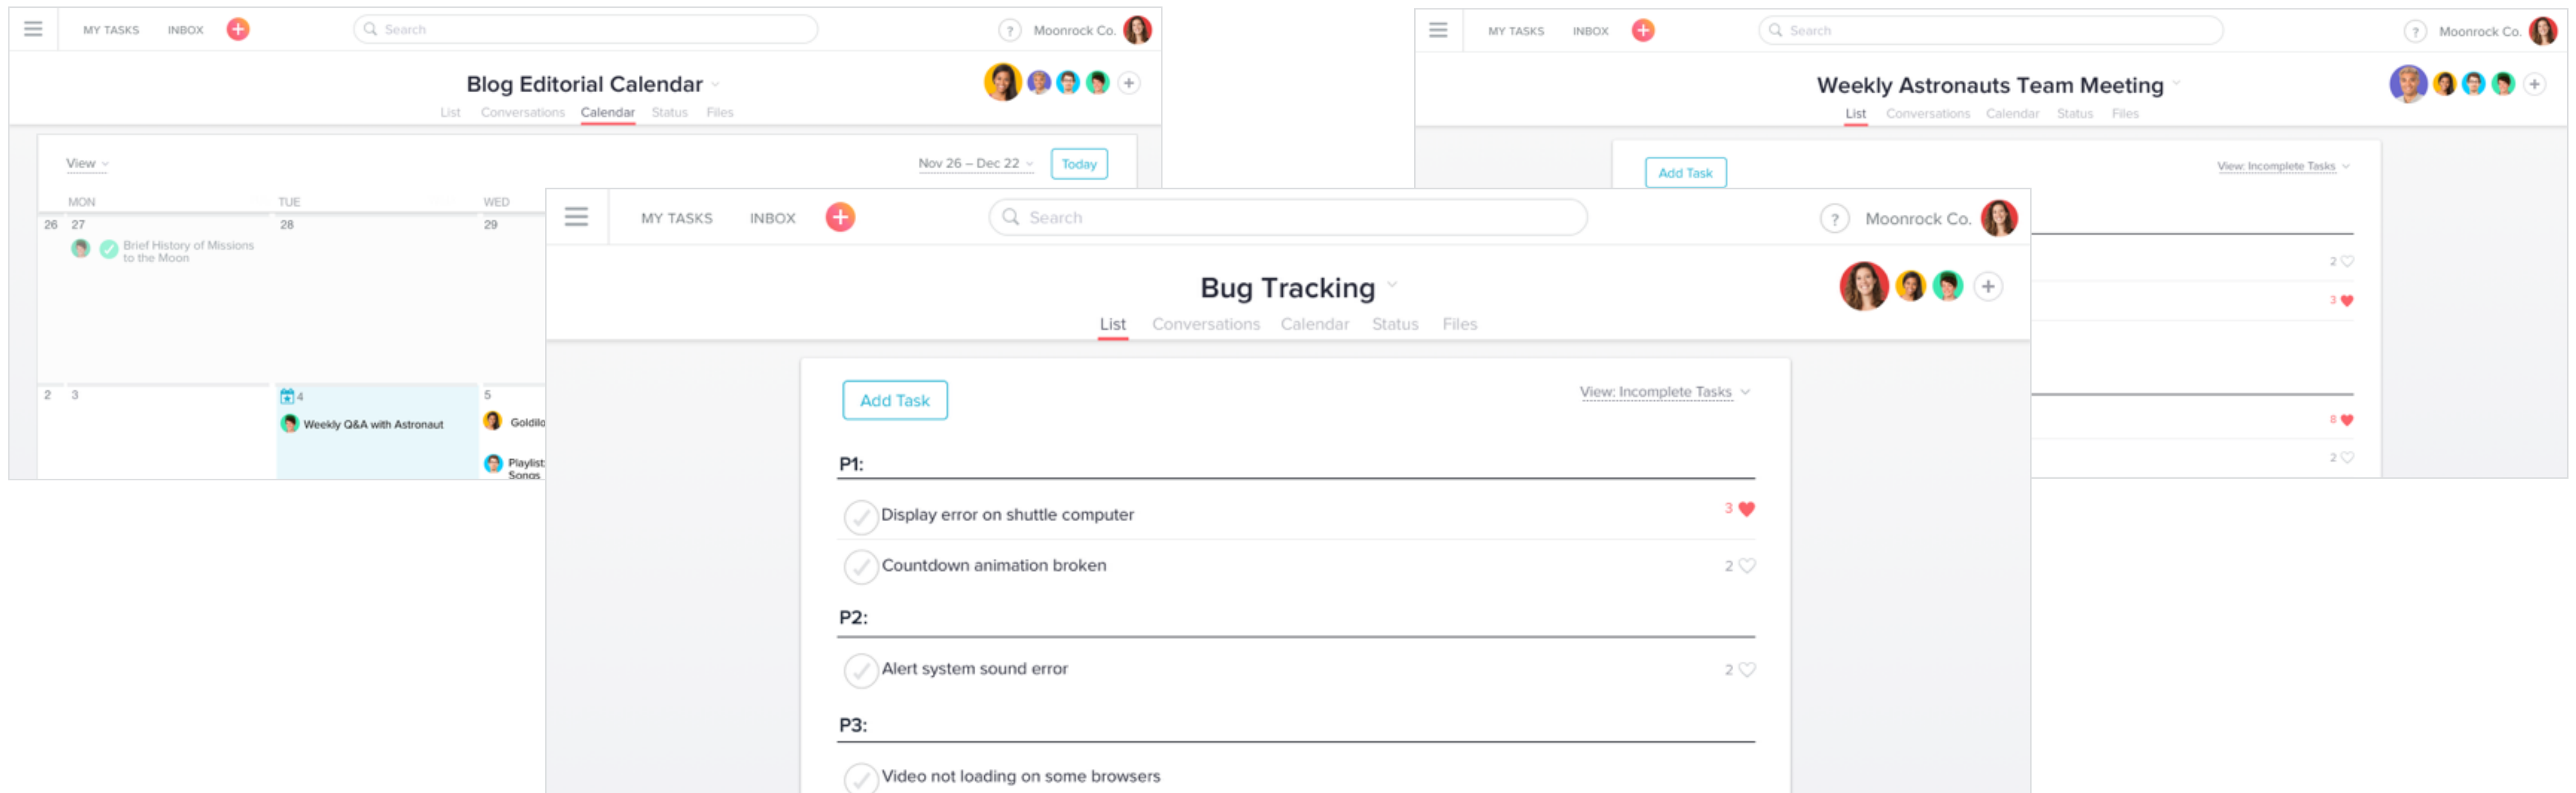

Work tracking with Asana

With Asana, you'll always know who is doing what, by when. Work is organized into tasks and projects. Communication remains focused and actionable with conversations, and you'll always know the status with dashboards and calendars.

Collaborate across teams

Asana is flexible enough for any project or workflow and helps companies collaborate and stay connected across teams. Projects can be used to hit deadlines, plan and run productive meetings, track leads, bugs, and job applicants—and more.
